

Backyard Lightning

The summer season means relaxing in the backyard and that last long past sundown. If you want to stay outside even after the sun sets and still be able to see your space, outdoor lighting is a must. Plus, it's not only useful for the warmer months—but having lighting outside also makes it so much easier to get from your car to the house or see your dog in the yard at night year-round. Not to mention, ample lighting transforms a mundane space into a welcoming oasis.

Check out these 10 best-selling outdoor lighting picks below. We've included decorative options as well as security lights for every part of the yard, from deck to pathway lighting. And everything is $40 and under.

These garden lights will turn your yard into a magical oasis. The flexible iron stems allow the warm white lights to sway with the wind to look like fireflies. They're solar-powered and waterproof with a sealed battery compartment that can withstand any weather. that the lights are “pretty and add a little whimsical light to the yard.”